LUBRICATING WHITE PARAFFIN OIL

This is a food-grade paraffin oil that can be used for general lubrication purposes. It is authorized for use in industrial operations where there is a possibility of food contact, and it can be used as a general lubricant in various applications throughout the food processing industry. The product delivers excellent results as a general lubricant in the textile, knitwear, food, and beverage industry. It can be used wherever high levels of cleanliness are required or in environments that need regular cleaning with water. Additionally, it is a suitable base oil for food-grade lubricants and greases. This product performs exceptionally well as a dough divider oil and as a lubricant for cutters, knives, conveyors, and rollers in packaging equipment. It is also effective as an anti-corrosive for food processing machinery. This product has received NSF H-1, 3-H, and HX-1 approval. In bakeries, 3-H approval is required for the lubrication of dough cutting equipment (full contact) in accordance with HACCP guidelines.
